This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

+ Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.

+ Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.

+ Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.

+ Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

NOTICE.

THE devotion of the VIA CRUCIS, Stations of the Cross, or the sighs of the loving soul who carries the Cross of Christ and desires to tread in His footsteps, may be devoutly offered not merely during the season of Lent, but also at any other time of the year either at home, or in the Church where the Stations are usually distributed and marked out by either the various altars or pictures. .

OBSERVE.—To gain the Indulgences annexed to this most profitable exercise of the Way of the Cross, it is not required to recite any particular form of prayer. Thus, neither these nor any other particular prayers are obligatory; they are only offered as a suitable manner of performing the devotion.

The Indulgences annexed to this devotion are the same as those which are granted to pilgrims visiting the actual places themselves in Palestine.

VIA CRUCIS.

PREPARATORY PRAYER.

RECEIVE, O Most Holy Trinity, this tribute of service which I offer to Thee, in token of my subjection to Thy Divine Majesty, of grateful acknowledgment for the mercy of my redemption, in satisfaction also for my sins, and to obtain rest for the departed, grace for the living and the glory of Heaven for all, in union with the merits of Our Lord Jesus Christ, of the Blessed Virgin and of all the Saints. To Thee be praise, glory and honour, O Blessed Trinity, for ever and ever. Amen.

STATION I.

JESUS IS CONDEMNED BY PILATE.

℣. We adore Thee, O Christ, and we bless Thee.

℟. For that by thy Holy Cross Thou hast redeemed the world.

℣. Adoramus Te Christe et benedicimus Tibi.

℟. Quia per Sanctam Crucem Tuam redemisti mundum.

To be repeated at each of the Stations respectively.

Here also every one should endeavour to meditate for a while, according to his ability, upon the Passion and Death of Our Lord Jesus Christ. (This condition is indispensable.)

CONSIDERATION. — He submitted Himself of His own free will to this unjust judgment of Pilate, that He might deliver me from the sentence of eternal damnation.

MEDITATION FROM THE HOLY SCRIPTURE. — The wicked said, thinking unjustly within themselves, let us circumvent the JUST MAN, for He is contrary to our works; He declareth Himself to have the knowledge of God, and He calleth Himself the Son of God. Let us see if His words be true, and if He be indeed the Son of God, let Him deliver Himself out of our hands; let us condemn Him by a most shameful death. (Wisdom, i.)

JESUS MEETS HIS AFFLICTED MOTHER AND ST. JOHN.

Digitized by Google

℣. Adoramus Te Christe, &c.
℟. Quia per Sanctam Crucem, &c. (p. 3.)

CONSIDERATION.—With what a sharp sword of grief must not the heart of His most Sorrowing Mother and of the most loving disciple have been pierced on thus beholding Jesus carrying His Cross? Consider, O my soul, what ought to be thy feeling of compassionate grief?

MEDITATION FROM THE HOLY SCRIPTURE.—O all ye that pass by on the way, attend and see if there be any grief like unto my grief. Therefore do I weep and mine eyes run down with tears, for the Comforter, he that should have converted my soul, is far off from me. Mine eyes have failed for very weeping, my bowels are shaken, my heart is poured out upon the ground, for the beating down of the daughter of my people, for the enemy hath prevailed. (Lamentations of Jeremias.)

Lord have mercy upon us.
Christ have mercy upon us.
Lord have mercy upon us.

Our Father, &c.
Hail Mary, &c.

Digitized by Google

℣. Adoramus Te Christe, &c.
℟. Quia per Sanctam Crucem, &c. (p. 3.)

CONSIDERATION. — This man Simon is compelled to bear the Cross after Jesus. How much greater would have been his merit if he had borne it willingly. O my soul, what is thy willingness in bearing the Cross of Christ?

MEDITATION FROM THE HOLY SCRIPTURE.—It behoveth us to glory in the Cross of Christ, in Whom is our Salvation, Life, and Resurrection, by whom we are saved and delivered. (Gal. vi. 14, and iv. 31.)

Lord have mercy upon us.

Digitized by Google

℣. Adoramus Te Christe, &c.
℟. Quia per Sanctam Crucem, &c. (p. 3.)

CONSIDERATION.—What a wonderful memorial was that which St. Veronica obtained from Christ. Contemplate thyself in it continually as it were in a mirror.

MEDITATION FROM THE HOLY SCRIPTURE.—Behold we have seen Him, having neither beauty nor comeliness, despised and the most abject of men, a man of sorrows and acquainted with infirmity; His look was as it were hidden and despised, whereon we esteemed Him not. His visage is inglorious among the living, and His form among the Sons of Men, and yet He is beautiful in form above all the Sons of Men, and by His bruises we are healed. (Isaias liii. and lii., and Psalm xliii.

Lord have mercy upon us.
Christ have mercy upon us.
Lord have mercy upon us.

℣. Convert us O Lord God of Hosts.
℟. Shew us the light of Thy countenance and we shall be saved.

CHRIST FALLS UNDER HIS CROSS NEAR THE GATE OF JUDGMENT.

℣. Adoramus Te Christe, &c.
℟. Quia per Sanctam Crucem, &c. (p. 3.)

CONSIDERATION.—O my soul, how wilt thou be able to stand in the day of judgment?

MEDITATION FROM THE HOLY SCRIPTURE.—They have delivered me up into the hands of the wicked, they have cast me forth among the evil doers, and have had no mercy on my soul. The strong men have gathered themselves against me, and like giants they have stood in my way, glaring upon me terribly with their eyes and cruelly striking me with blows, they have laughed me to scorn. (Job xvi. 10, and Psalms).

Lord have mercy upon us.
Christ have mercy upon us.
Lord have mercy upon us.

Our Father, &c.
Hail Mary, &c.

℣. But I am a worm and no man.

THE WOMEN OF JERUSALEM TESTIFY THEIR GRIEF AT THE SIGHT OF JESUS CARRYING HIS CROSS.

Digitized by Google

℣. Adoramus Te Christe, &c.
℟. Quia per Sanctam Crucem, (p. 3.)

CONSIDERATION.—O my soul, where are the tears with which thou lamentest thy sins. Perhaps thou canst find tears enough with which to lament the loss of anything of this world.

MEDITATION FROM THE HOLY SCRIPTURE.—Daughters of Jerusalem, weep not for me, but weep for yourselves and for your children. For behold the day shall come in the which they shall say, "blessed are the barren and the wombs that have never borne, and the breasts which have never given suck. Then shall they begin to say to the mountains, fall upon us, and to the hills, cover us. For if they do these things in the green wood, what shall be done in the dry." (St. Luke's Gospel).

℣. Adoramus Te Christe, &c.
℟. Quia per Sanctam Crucem, &c. (p. 3.)

CONSIDERATION.—O how often is Jesus weighed down under the weight of our sins!

MEDITATION FROM THE OFFICE OF GOOD FRIDAY.—O my people, what have I done unto thee, and in what have I grieved thee? Answer me! I brought thee out of the land of Egypt, and thou hast brought Me out to the death of the Cross. I have fed thee with manna in the wilderness for forty years, and thou hast smitten Me on the face and hast scourged me with stripes. I have given to thee a royal sceptre and thou hast crowned My head with a crown of thorns. What more ought I to have done for thee that I have not done?

Lord have mercy upon us.
Christ have mercy upon us.

Digitized by Google

℣. Adoramus Te Christe, &c.
℟. Quia per Sanctam Crucem, &c. (p. 3.)

CONSIDERATION.—O my soul, art thou never cruel to the poor? If thou art, remember, thou doest the same thing to Jesus, as did his executioners.

MEDITATION FROM THE OFFICE OF GOOD FRIDAY.—O my people what have I done unto thee, and in what have I wearied thee? Answer Me. I have brought thee out of the house of bondage into the land of promise, and thou hast led Me, who came down for thy sake from the bosom of the Father, to the death of the Cross. I planted thee My chosen vine and thou hast become to Me exceeding bitter. I gave thee to drink of the waters of salvation, and thou hast given to Me gall and vinegar. What more ought I to have done to thee and have not done it?

Lord have mercy upon us.
Christ have mercy upon us.

CONSIDERATION.—How mighty are the bands of love with which Jesus hath bound Himself. O my soul, ask thyself, with what bands of love art thou in turn bound to Him?

MEDITATION FROM THE OFFICE OF GOOD FRIDAY.—O my people what have I done to thee? I have exalted thee with great power, and thou hast lifted Me up upon the Cross. I have made thee higher than all nations, and thou hast filled me with thy reproofs and thy blasphemings. I have opened the Red Sea before thy feet and thou hast pierced my side with a spear. What more is there that I could have done for thee and have not done it?

℣. Adoramus Te Christe, &c.

CONSIDERATION.—Consider how Jesus took leave of His Blessed Mother upon the Cross, and how he commended His Spirit into the hands of His Eternal Father. O my soul, pray that thou mayest in like manner die the death of the JUST.

MEDITATION FROM THE HOLY SCRIPTURE.—Behold how the just man dieth, and no man taketh it to heart. The righteous men are taken away and no man careth. The just man is taken away from the midst of iniquity, and his memory shall be held in benediction. (Ecclesiasticus.)

THE DEAD BODY OF JESUS IS TAKEN DOWN FROM THE CROSS IN THE PRESENCE OF HIS MOST AFFLICTED MOTHER.

Digitized by Google

℣. Adoramus Te Christe, &c.
℟. Quia per Sanctam Crucem, &c. (p. 3.)

CONSIDERATION.—Consider the most vehement grief of the soul of Mary as the dead body of her Son is taken down from the Cross, and as she prepares to receive Him into her arms and to give Him her last embrace. Her love hath caused her such great sorrow that it has of a truth made her a martyr. Ask thyself, O my soul, what love and compassion thou hast for thy Saviour?

MEDITATION FROM THE HOLY SCRIPTURE. — To whom shall I liken thee, and to whom shall I compare thee, O daughter of Jerusalem; overwhelming as the sea is thy desolation.—O Mother of Mercy grant that I may grieve with thee for the death of Christ, and make me ever to share in His most Holy Passion. (Lamentations of Jeremias.)

JESUS IS LAID IN THE TOMB.

Digitized by Google

℣. Adoramus Te Christe, &c.
℟. Quia per Sanctam Crucem, &c. (p. 3.)

CONSIDERATION.—Consider, O my soul, how the body of Jesus has been embalmed with sweet spices, that it may be buried in a new tomb in which no man has been laid. With what honours dost thou receive thy Redeemer whether spiritually or sacramentally? Art thou at all times careful to be the new tomb, adorned with befitting ornaments of virtue.

MEDITATION FROM THE HOLY SCRIPTURE.—I am esteemed like to them that go down into the pit. I am become as a man without help, free among the dead. O good Lord Jesus, I come hither with the Holy Women, weeping and lamenting that I have made myself so unworthy to preserve and maintain the Kingdom of Thy Grace in my heart (Ps. lxxxvii.)
